Truman Said To Be Checking On Mine Strikers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(P)—The White House checked today on the number of coal miners at work and there were reports Truman was ready to act quickly if strikers do not go back to the pits.

At a news conference, Charles Ross, presidential press secretary, said, "I can't answer anything at the moment."

He said Mr. Truman had nothing to add to what he has already said about the coal situation. The President has repeatedly said he would step in if the situation required action from him.

Coal presumably was one of the matters reviewed at a conference Mr. Truman had with his staff. After it broke up one of those who attended said he thought it unlikely that any action would be taken today.

It was learned the White House is getting reports on the response of the miners to week-end hints that Presidential action could be expected unless they got back to the three-day work week ordered by John L. Lewis, their union leader.

They apparently were not inclined to abandon the strike. The Associated Press bureau at Pittsburgh, compiling reports from over the country, figured at least 89,875 miners stayed at home this morning when work whistles blew. This compares with 88,000 last week.

The situation has now reached a point where at least the three-day work week must be put into full operation to avoid White House action, said a high White House official last night.

Another point, he said in his Sunday evening conversation with a reporter that the president might intervene "within 48 hours."

Thus the next step appeared to rest with those of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers who have been on strike for three weeks to support their demands for a contract.

Some 88,000—about a fourth of the union members—have been on strike.

Lewis instituted a three-day week to bring pressure on coal operators to grant UMW contract demands, short of an all-out strike. The strike of the 88,000 who say they can't live on three days' pay, does not have official UMW authorization.

The White House official, who declined to be quoted by name, said the president will decide on Sec. TRUMAN, Page 5

Bands Of Roving Pickets Help To Boost Idle Ranks

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 30.—(P)—Bands of roving pickets helped swell the number of striking coal miners to 88,500 today as the "No Contract No Work" strike surged into its fourth week.

Last week about 88,000 of the nation's 400,000 soft coal diggers refused to work until they got a contract. The number of idle grew despite a White House hint that increased coal production could stave off Presidential intervention.

The strike doubled the number of stay-at-home miners in West Virginia. That state, biggest coal producer, counted 20,000 out of the pits out of 110,000.

In Pennsylvania, the number two state, 51,300 out of 100,000 soft coal miners are refusing to work. The state department of relief reported relief applications are mounting swiftly in coal producing counties.

Several mines that were closed last week in Kentucky and Alabama were able to reopen. Alabama listed 8,000 miners out of 18,000 and Kentucky said only 200 diggers are taking part in the work stoppage.

The strike spread to Illinois, where the 1950 disturbances first started Jan. 3. About 275 UMW miners walked out at a mine of the Pyramid Coal Company, saying they would not return until a contract calling for a five day week is signed. The nation's miners are now on a three day week on Lewis' orders.

About 16,000 Illinois UMW miners skipped work a three-day week in January. They returned to the pits Jan. 9 on orders of Hugh White, state UMW president.

Last week one-fifth of the country's 400,000 soft coal diggers were idle in six states in the latest walkout.

The United Mine Workers chose to break off a suggestion of J. L. Lewis, their president, that

Lawmakers Hear Acheson In Plea For Korean Help

'To Stop Now Unfortunate' State Secretary Says

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(P)—Secretary of State Acheson told congress today that to stop economic aid to Korea now would be "most unfortunate." He said it would affect not only that young postwar republic but all South-east Asia.

It is a "safe bet," the secretary added, that Democratic South Korea can resist anything short of a "major attack" from the Russian-dominated northern half of the Korean Peninsula.

Acheson outlined American responsibilities in Korea at an amicable session of the house foreign affairs committee.

After that, Chairman Kee (D-W.Va.) ordered the committee into executive session for a closed-door discussion of the more touchy question of U. S. foreign policy throughout all of Asia. This policy is now under fire from Acheson's Republican critics.

Acheson's brief public testimony failed to produce anything but the mildest questioning by committee members.

The secretary urged reversal of the house defeat last Monday of the $60,000,000 Korean assistance bill.

He called for approval of a substitute proposal which ties Korean economic aid to extension of the China aid act of 1948.

Both aid programs expire Feb. 15, and would be extended until June 30 by the proposed legislation.

Acheson told the committee that the United States, as the principal sponsor of Korea's postwar government, has responsibilities to see Korea through its present difficult financial troubles.

"To stop aid now," he said, "would be a most unfortunate thing to do and would undo all that has been done."

There are unexpended funds of about $108,000,000 for China aid which he said could be used to some extent.

Car Crashes Take 7 Lives In Texas; 2 Burned To Death

By The Associated Press.

Traffic accidents killed seven of the nine persons who died violently in Texas over the week end. Two burned to death.

Max Hazel Sparkman, 37, of Freer was fatally injured Sunday when the car he was riding in ran into a bridge railing near Freer.

Joseph C. McNail, 20, of LaFayette was killed early Sunday when the car he was driving crashed into the rear of a parked truck a mile north of LaFayette.

Clyde Seay, 20, of Nocona was killed and Paul Brown, 21, of near Nocona was badly injured when their car collided with a two-ton truck near Fort Worth Sunday.

An automobile overturned on a sharp curve near Houston Saturday night, killing Charles Albert Phifer, 30, and James W. Clinch, 22.

Charles Edward Duntun, 19, of Abilene died Sunday of injuries received in a two-car collision near Big Spring.

Mrs. John C. McInnis, 19, of Greenville died instantly Saturday night in a head-on automobile collision five miles south of Greenville.

A flash fire that swept their home on Bonner Sunday killed Jimmy Leroy Hurd, 3, and Katie May Hurd, 18 months, negro children.

William Robert Leeman, 22, former Bonham youth, was sentenced to 12 years in the penitentiary Monday morning by a P. Mays district judge, after he had pleaded guilty to a robbery indictment. He was tried in connection with the December 4 last year, robbery of the Cabell store here of $132.89 by two hijackers.

Howard M. Dalley Dallas attorney, represented the young man and presented a number of witnesses from Bonham and Fannin county, Ga., who testified that Leeman had a good reputation before "his short career of crime" and was a member of a prominent family.

Judge Mays did not agree with the request of the defense for not in excess of 10 years' penalty and referred to the robbery of a store in Crosbytown where the storeowner was kidnapped and shot (alleged by the defendant accidentally), and forced to walk in handcuffs to a farmhouse where he was released and an attempt to kill a Corsicana peace officer.

Bartley Cowart and Billy Malone, employees of Cabell's, told of the two men robbing them at the point of pistols—of leaving their report to W. D. Theford, city police, who drove up while the incident was in progress—and his chasing them after five shots had been fired by the pursuing officers. They Chas. T. Banister, county attorney, arraigned the defendant and said the State was relying on the second count of the robbery indictment—plain robbery.

It was brought out that the two men drove away after an exchange of shots with Theford that disabled Theford's car.

Harry Thomas and E. J. Koulon, Dallas police radio patrolmen, testified of chasing the car of Leeman, seeing the pistol bullets in the side, an eight-mile chase that ended near Garland after five shots had been fired by the pursuing officers. They

Legislature Ready To Open Session On Taxation Plans

Group Can Make Swift Work Out Of Hospital Finances

BY DAVE CHEAVENS
AUSTIN, Jan. 30.—(P)—The work pattern for the special session of the legislature starting at noon tomorrow calls for a quick start and a fast finish.

At least that's what the leadership hopes for.

If the first called session of the 51st legislature follows that outline, it will be establishing a precedent for itself. The regular session of the 51st dragged on for 177 days to set a new record for length.

In doing so, it got a lot done. It reorganized the public school system, voted to modernize the prison system and build many miles of rural roads. It boosted the teachers' pay and funds for state departments and colleges.

Ran Out Of Cash.
It authorized spending directly or indirectly $12 million dollars from the general revenue fund but it ran out of money before it provided enough to operate the state hospitals and special schools for an entire two-year fiscal period. Nor did it vote any funds for buildings to relieve overcrowded conditions or take state wards out of firetraps or buildings not suited for elementary purposes.

That's why the lawmakers go back into session tomorrow. They have before them specific recommendations from the hospital board and the youth development council for immediate appropriations aggregating nearly 26 million dollars. The hospital board specified the use of up to $1 million dollars to care for the present patient overload. It will take all it can get, Chairman Claud Glimmer said.

Can Start Work.
If the work schedule suggested for the session is followed, the senate can dig in immediately on committee study of the appropriation bill put forward by the board.

The house meanwhile will have the opportunity to get busy on half a dozen or more tax proposals or other plans for raising the necessary money. It also is scheduled to get a hospital appropriation bill early.

While tax bills must originate in the house, experience has shown the senate usually has the last word on revenue-raising measures. The bills actually are written in the conference committee near the end of a session, and senate influence there is usually strong.

No Delay Seen.
There will be no delays in getting organized, one factor that usually slows up regular sessions. The house already has its speaker. The senate must have a new president pro tem to preside over it since the Cabell store now has no lieutenant governor.

Senator G. C. Morris, acting lieutenant governor and between-session president of the senate, will chair the post. Several veterans members are available. This election should not take long.

Municipal Ballot Talk Is Scheduled For Warmer Times

Corsicana's political pot will start to simmer in about 30 days as candidates for city elective offices must file nomination papers by March 3. Only two officers are scheduled to run for re-election April 4; they are Commissioners Travis Fullwood and Fred Price.

City Attorney Julius Jacobs said nomination papers must be filed 30 days in advance of the election and absentee balloting starts 20 days before election. He added the city secretary must post a list of candidates in his office 10 days prior to the day absentee balloting starts.

Under these conditions, absentee balloting would start March 14, and the lists would be posted March 4.

An ordinance passed by the city commission recently provides that candidates for city offices will be listed on the official ballot in the order received. In other words,

Drizzle Freezes As Mercury Dips In State Areas

By The Associated Press.
A treacherous coating of ice was forming today over much of North Texas.

The ice, reminiscent of but not so severe as last year's ice storm, stretched from Dallas to San Angelo.

Fort Worth, Mineral Wells, Sherman, Abilene and Wichita Falls also reported ice forming as temperatures dipped below freezing.

So far, however, it was a misty drizzle which was freezing. It would take much more precipitation for the situation to equal last year's ice storm during which trees broke under the weight of ice.

During the morning Panhandle temperatures were below freezing but there was no precipitation. The weather bureau said there was considerable likelihood of the ice cover extending into the Panhandle later today if rains predicted for that area materialize.

Snow flurries were reported briefly at Dallas. Meanwhile, the northern which romped into the state yesterday had slowed to a snail's pace and was virtually stationary in South Texas.

The weather bureau predicted warmer weather for the interior of East Texas tonight and for the entire state tomorrow.

Rain was predicted for the Panhandle, South Plains and Pecos Valley eastward tonight and tomorrow, but the likelihood it would turn into freezing rain in the Panhandle and South Plains tonight.

A mid-morning today the cold front extended from Alexandria, La., southwest just above Houston and through San Antonio, across to Guadalupe Pass, and then on into western Colorado. It was moving so slowly that weather charts called for the front, or what's left of it, to be in approximately the same line tomorrow.

Yesterday's high reading was a warm 59 at Laredo, this morning's low 13 at Pampa in West Texas. This morning's most readings behind the cold front were below

SUSPECT HELD IN TEXAS RAPE

NEWTON, Jan. 30.—(P)—A 30-year old father of five children has been charged with the rape of a 73-year-old woman and with assault to murder her 78-year-old husband.

Dist. Atty. Robert Hillin said yesterday the charges were filed againstloyd Buxton after attacks on Mr. Mrs. F. M. Foshee.

The elderly couple are in a hospital for treatment. Mrs. Foshee suffered a broken hip. Her husband suffered a head injury.

Hillin said a man came to the Foshee home in this small south-east Texas town near the Louisiana border shortly after midnight yesterday. He said he needed bandages for an injured companion.

When Foshee stepped out of the door, the man hit him on the back of the head with a hammer, the man raped Mrs. Foshee.

Hillin Buxton was arrested with his fingerprints were compared with prints found near the Foshee home.

Persian Gulf Is Struck By Quake

TEHRAN, Iran, Jan. 30.—(P)—Government officials said a strong earthquake struck the Persian Gulf area of Bushire, struck by a recent series of sharp earthquakes.

First unofficial reports on the toll said more than 1,500 persons were killed but the government said it believed these figures were greatly exaggerated. The government today gave no figure of its own on the possible total of dead. Rescue and relief workers in Bushire thus far have recovered only 30 bodies.

His announcement was made to reporters after a closed meeting of the committee with Dr. Robert Oppenheimer, chairman of the atomic energy commission's general advisory committee.

McMahon said the committee has taken no votes or action on the issue but will meet again tomorrow for "further deliberations."

—And Then Came Death

FARMINGTON, Del., Jan. 30.—(P)—Mrs. Jeanette Fisher heard a rat running around on the second floor of her farm home last Sunday night.

She and her neighbor, Mrs. Elizabeth Jerread, 17, grabbed the Fisher baby and ran downstairs. They called Mrs. Jerread's husband, William, 23, to try to catch the rat.

He borrowed the Fisher automatic pistol and ran upstairs. A moment later, state police reported, he fired at the rat.

"Billy, I'm shot," screamed his wife. He hurried downstairs, found his wife dying from a bullet wound in the abdomen. The bullet had torn through the ceiling of the living room.

Hogs Get Better Watching Than Kids In School, Speaker Tells Educators

Educators from six counties were told here Monday that hogs are given more consideration than school children.

Now-a-days when a farmer buys a sack of hog food, he knows exactly what the ingredients are the vitamins, proteins, even ash—but a mother sends her child to school with little interest, happy to be left alone for a few hours.

Discussing the school lunch program, Harris Richard of the Department of Agriculture in Dallas, told some 40 school administrators that eating habits formed by students are all-important.

"Yet we're not giving our children the same consideration we're giving hogs," he declared.

Meeting in the county courtroom, the administrators were expected to more fully the school lunch program and recent changes relative to distribution of foods.

Navarro County School Supt. J. C. Watson is the distributor agent for this area, serving Navarro, Dallas, Ellis, Henderson, Kaufman and Van Zandt counties. He explained the purpose of the meeting was to determine if the schools in the area wished to continue ordering of foods that have been placed in a new category, known as section 418. Foods obtained under this new section will not be shipped freight-free as formerly done by the government.

The group voted to continue purchases, leaving the matter of ordering up to the judgment of Watson and his assistant, C. A. Rogers.

Speed Up Slow Down—Soviet Guards Make Careless Check On Road Traffic; Highway Heckling Ends Just Like Stalin Started It

BERLIN, Jan. 30.—(P)—The Russians dropped their "little blockade" tactics early today and allowed road traffic to flow normally from the west to Berlin for the first time in ten days.

Soviet guards obviously acting on higher orders, passed all trucks through the frontier posts at Berlin and Helmstedt, 100 miles to the west, with only perfunctory checks.

The Soviets did not give any reason for the armistice, but they never gave any official reason for starting their highway heckling. It was assumed, however, the slowdown began in retaliation for the seizure of the Berlin railway headquarters building by West Berlin police acting on orders from the U. S. commandant in Berlin.

The railways and the building are administered by the Soviet-backed East zone government. U. S. officials later ordered the West Berliners to evacuate the building, which is in the American zone of the city.

The slowdown, which reached recognizable proportions eight days ago, cut highway traffic almost to a standstill and cost West Berlin about 10,000 tons of supplies, American officials estimated.

This was a drop in the bucket, however, since the railroad system was undisturbed and poured more than that into the city in one day.

Allied officials concluded that the Soviet objective, therefore, was more psychological than anything else.

'50 Census Takers Expected To Find Density Increase

With an estimated population of more than 150 million people at the end of 1949, the population density of the continental United States reached 50 persons per square mile of land area. In 1940, at the last census the population density was 44.2 persons per square mile.

The land area of the continental United States is 2,977,128 square miles. Current population density figures are based on this land area. When the results of the 15th decennial census to be taken in April have been tabulated, a new official population density figure will be compiled by the census bureau.

The most densely populated spot in the United States is Manhattan Island (New York county). With a land area of 22 square miles, the island in 1940 had a population of 1,289,924 or 58,605.6 persons per square mile.

The most densely populated state is Rhode Island which had 674.2 persons per square mile in 1940, although the District of Columbia had 10,870.3. Nevada was at the bottom of the population density scale with only one inhabitant per square mile.

The three largest counties in the United States are San Bernardino, Calif., with 10,000 square miles and a 1940 population density of eight persons per square mile; Coconino, Ariz., with 18,573 square miles and a population density of one person per square mile; and Nye, Nev., with 18,064 square miles and a population density of one person per five square miles.

Negro Driver Didn't Do Much - - Much That Was Right, That Is, Judge Holds

"You're mighty lucky," said the judge, "Lucky to be standing before me right now. Lucky to be alive."

They could have "thrown the book" at the defendant, a negro motorist who literally went wild in a downtown police chase Friday.

But these charges were dropped: Speeding within the city limits. Passing in a no-passing zone. Passing again in a no-passing zone.

Falling to yield to emergency vehicles. Running a stop sign. Transporting alcoholic beverages. Driving without an operator's license.

However, Justice of the Peace J. W. Sheppard assessed a $111 fine against the man on a reckless driving charge, for speeding and passing in a no-passing zone, as recommended by the officers.

Highway patrolmen Jack Gaines and Henry Tucker began a 90-mile-an-hour chase just south of the city limits on U. S. 75. They radioed into Corsicana and Constable Joe Allen, hearing a city police broadcast, joined the chase.

Hitting dips that threw their vehicles high into the air, and turning corners on two wheels, the negro stopped, leaped from his car and began running. But he was nabbed.

His reason for trying to outrun the police was fear of a second conviction for bootlegging, he said.

The courtroom was packed and buzzing with whispers late Thursday afternoon.

A deadlocked jury, on another floor, was pondering the guilt or innocence of L. W. Fraley in the slaying of a Blooming Grove neighbor.

Then, as the judge called for trial another criminal matter, a sheriff's deputy led into the courtroom a frail, frightened-looking man.

About 39, the defendant slumped into a chair beside his attorney. And with head in hands, he leaned forward on the table—as a child might do in a classroom.

County Attorney Charles Banister prepared to read the indictment. The charge was incest—on complaint of the man's daughter.

Few eyes were on the seemingly weary man until he stood up and began walking unsteadily toward the courtroom entrance.

As he reached the door, the accused broke into a run and darted swiftly toward the stairs—and

People's Faith Credited With Miracle Of Israel, Says Speaker; Appeal Made To Corsicana Jewry For Aid To Cause

By CLYDE E. JOHNSON
Daily Sun Staff Writer

"There is a miracle going on in that little land of Israel."

In a stirring address to some 50 Corsicana Jews, Mrs. Irma Lindheim—an expert on the Zionist cause—declared here Thursday night that Israel has become a growing, progressive nation because of its people's faith.

"Their faith is so strong no sacrifice is too much. In fact, the word sacrifice is not used in Israel," she said.

She appealed for aid to the Jewish National Fund so that Israel's ever-increasing population might have homes and food-producing land.

"The J. N. F. is an embodiment of spirit in Israel. Its funds will be used to redeem the people by purchasing land," she explained.

The "miracle" of Israel, she stated, was evidenced by the victories of its tiny army over Arabs from six nations. At times it seemed as if the entire nation would be wiped out, but something always happened to repel the enemies, she said.

"We had some of the most outlandish weapons," the speaker recalled. "One just made a big racket and scared the Arabs away."

Mrs. Lindheim told how she became interested in the cause of Zionism while serving as a lieutenant in the American Motor Corps in World War I.

"I had a great idea that I belonged to a people that not only had a past," she said.

Since 1917, Mrs. Lindheim has devoted herself to helping the Jewish people, particularly through the Jewish National Fund.

She compared the J. N. F. with a psychiatrist, who prescribes "work with hands" or tilling the soil as treatment for emotional or mental disturbances.

"The Jewish people have lived abnormal lives for years," she declared, pointing out the persecutions by fascists, whose anti-Semitism was described as a "cancer eating out the culture of Europe."

But now the people in Israel are beginning to know a normal life; they are working; land is being bought, industries are established, and a democratic government is functioning well, she related.

"Our people must be a free people," Mrs. Lindheim declared.

The present expansion of Israel, she said, began after the victories over Arabs—not Palestine Arabs, but those of other lands, hired to plunder the tiny state.

The 170,000 Arabs in Israel are making good citizens, she reported.

Jewish youths replaced many of the Arab workers and began working the soil—at the same time withstanding disease and continued outbreaks of violence.

The Jews' success, so far, is the result of faith, strength of will and determination, she said.

Although the speaker did not appear bitter toward the British, she told how that nation retarded Israel's development by siding with the Arabs. For example, when the British left Palestine, they turned over their police forces to the Arabs, she said.

Declaring much remaining to be done, Mrs. Lindheim said 70,000 Jews were homeless, that four and five families were living in one tent.

The address followed a dinner in the Cactus Room of the Navarro Hotel. After the talk, there was a discussion period.

Asked why it was necessary to "purchase" the land, since Israel was victorious, had conquered the Arabs and was recognized by the United Nations, Mrs. Lindheim replied:

"We just don't do that sort of thing. I can't imagine us just going in and taking property without paying for it."

The questioner then said, "Lots of them are doing it."

CORNICANA, TEX., JAN. 31, 1950

RULING THE AIR

It is the conclusion of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics that, if the United States is to maintain military supremacy in the air, it is imperative that we develop practical, tactically useful warplanes flying faster than the speed of sound. This conclusion is based on the premise that a potentially hostile nation might develop superspeed bombers capable of delivering atomic bombs to American targets from distant bases. From the standpoint of either scientific reasoning or ordinary logic, the possibility must be admitted.

The situation suggests the endless strain and spiraling cost of military supremacy. Once we have developed the aircraft the NACA says are needed, it will have to be presumed that a potential enemy might develop similar craft, and find a way either to use them against us or defend their own planes from them. It would then be necessary to take some new step to hold supremacy.

We have to keep supremacy in the air and on the seas, under present international circumstances. Without control over those two modes of approach we are a vulnerable nation, and helpless to offer assistance to any friendly nation except our two next-door neighbors. We could not protect our overseas territories nor fulfill our overseas commitments.

It must soon become apparent that neither the United States nor any other great power can spare the resources and energy for an endless race for supremacy in any military field. Scientific progress promises to make the race fantastically expensive. It behooves us to change the international circumstances so as to destroy permanently the need for supreme military force.

MR. BARNES

"Where can I get a copy of 'Mr. Barnes of New York'?" This query came the other day to the book editor of the New York Herald Tribune, who did not attempt to answer it. It reminded her, however, of the astonishing success of this book. Its author, a playwright named Archibald Clavering Gunter, had in 1887 offered it in vain to several publishers, and finally brought it out himself in paper covers. In a short time these adventures of a rich and imprudent young man in Europe sold 100,000 copies, and eventually the figure was over a million. His later volumes, of which "Mr. Potter of Texas" was the best known, were also so popular that his biographer in the "Dictionary of American Biography" calls Gunter the most popular writer of his time in the United States, and adds that for years travellers were almost never seen without a Gunter book. Finally his vein ran out, and his death in 1907 was barely noted.

The year of the publication of "Mr. Barnes of New York" was also the year in which an even more famous book appeared in paper covers. Conan Doyle's "Study in Scarlet," the first book about Sherlock Holmes. In that same year also came out a book of far less merit but even greater sales, "The Mystery of a Hansom Cab" by an Australian named Fergus Hume. That sold in the millions.

The historians of literature have not officially noticed it, but evidently 1887 was the beginning of a new era in fiction. It was probably a revolt against the stoginess of the leading au-

DUPLICATE.

Her grandma couldn't stay to see
How very much like her is she.
Her big, brown eyes just like her own;
Her laughter with the self-same tone;
Her dimples—sendom this occurs—
In cheeks identical with hers;
The self-same hair of raven hue.
I sometimes think the good Lord knows
Life's cares would harder be to face
Were none to take her grandma's place.

The way she sings, the way she talks,
And holds her body when she walks!
Her duplicate. The way she winks,
And even in the way she thinks.
I never thought so young a child
Could smile as once her grandma smiled.
Yet, oft I'm sure in little Jane
Her grandma has been born again.
And that I should less lonely be,
The Lord has sent her back to me.

FINAL BLOW FOR BUTTER

The decisive Senate approval of the bill to repeal discriminatory federal taxes against oleomargarine was a stroke of common sense in government regulation of foods. But the butter interests managed to get in one final punitive blow against their vegetable competition. This was the clause in the Senate measure requiring that oleomargarine be put in triangular packages.

If this regulation should stand, its final effect on the competition between butter and oleo would probably be slight, and its usefulness in preventing the fraudulent sale of oleo as butter would be even less. It is a ridiculous insult to suggest that housewives need a radically new shape of package to enable them to distinguish between butter and oleo on the grocer's shelves. It is silly to suppose that any defrauder willing to make a dishonest dollar by palming oleo off as butter would be deterred by the triangular package. If the regulation be retained it would have the punitive effect of forcing oleo manufacturers to install new molding machinery, and would accomplish little else.

The triangular package provision might not survive study by the conference committee which must iron out differences between House and Senate bills. Regardless of that point, both houses of Congress now have approved the idea that the household shopper has a right to free choice between oleo and butter, and have put an end to the long illusion that the federal government ought to protect one American industry against the competition of another American industry.

OUR WAY AND CHINA'S

Mme. Chiang Kai-shek was visiting at the White House during one of John L. Lewis' frequent disruptions of the coal industry. As Mrs. Roosevelt tells the story in her autobiography, "This I Remember," the Chinese leader's wife was asked how they would handle Lewis in China. She did not reply in words, but instead drew her hand across her throat.

This so-called solution of problems somewhat like the Lewis problem merely illustrates the fundamental failure of the Chinese regime to settle any troubles except by violence, for which corruption was sometimes substituted.

THE SPANISH QUESTION

The bitter critics of the Franco government in Spain may not be pleased by the announcement that the United States is prepared to support a move to rescind the United Nations resolution against full diplomatic relations with Spain. But this is a step toward a more sane attitude on relations with Spain, and possibly other nations as well.

In a diplomatic understatement, Secretary of State Dean Acheson has said that the United Nations resolution calling on all members to withdraw ambassadors and ministers from Spain, was a "mistake." It was more than a mistake. It betrayed a lack of understanding of the nature and traditional role of formal relations between nations.

Recognition by one government of another is an acknowledgment that the government appears to be in control of its nation and capable of maintaining order. It is nothing more. The maintenance of formal exchange of ambassadors or ministers and other representatives is a means of keeping open channels of peaceable intercourse between the two governments. Neither recognition nor diplomatic exchange implies approval of the character of another government, the means by which it came to power or the methods used to stay in power.

A return to that historic interpretation and usage of international recognition and diplomatic exchange might help to clear the air around some of our problems of international relations. And it might simplify the tangled confusion of our foreign policy.

STATE BABYSITTERS

The expansion of government activities has aroused considerable general opposition. This may not apply to a new function announced by the Missouri Division of Employment Security. Its head, Paul P. Connoles, proposes to set up a centralized clearing house for baby sitters. Parents wishing to go to the movies will simply call up this agency, and get their sitter, complete with references. Applicants, incidentally, will have to provide references also.

The question arises whether there will be any such startling developments as in the movie, "Sitting Pretty," where the engaged sitter proved to be not a girl as expected, but a man and an eccentric genius to boot. The state of Missouri can probably be trusted to head off any such outcome.

TAPPED WIRES

A report to Congress by the Federal Bureau of Investigation states that "less than 170" private telephone lines in the United States were tapped by the FBI at the moment when the report was drawn. This is not a large enough number to cause much excitement, and the report said that all these taps were in connection with investigation of internal security cases. As any person really bent on undermining the internal security of the United States doubtless would stop at nothing to gain their ends, perhaps we should be content to let the FBI use drastic means to discover what such persons may be up to.

But whenever we may be tempted to condone wire-tapping as a standard police procedure, it would be well to reflect on the tales which have been heard in recent years about life in police states. One of the conditions of police state life most incredible and repugnant to Americans is that the individual dares not say what he thinks, even to his closest friends. The symbols of this condition are the stealthy eavesdropper, the hidden microphone, and the police-tapped telephone line.

The American likes to say what he thinks, and to talk without fear of an unseen listener. If we want to keep the privilege of doing so, we should pay close attention whenever there is discussion of the authority of police organizations, federal or local, to tap your telephone.

TEACHING LEVELS

In a recent speech before a meeting of educators, Edward E. Keener, president of the Illinois Education Association, stated the opinion that teachers should give the best service possible without regard to the pay they receive. He agreed that efforts should be made toward higher pay, but said that professional ideals should operate on a higher level than that of financial reward.

This is the attitude which has always been held by most of the members of the teaching profession. In few lines of work does a man or woman pour out the resources of his or her personality in so prodigal a manner as does the devoted teacher.

No community should take advantage of this selfless attitude. Teachers, like other workers, must eat, wear clothes, have shelter, and pursue some recreational activities. Their pay should, in justice, be commensurate with the effort they put forth to mold our future citizens.

WISE YOUNG JUDGES

Undergraduates at Princeton University are showing a trend of interest away from the social sciences and toward a strong emphasis on courses classified as the humanities, which cover philosophy, religion, English, music and art.

Dr. J. Douglas Brown, dean of the faculty, in commenting upon this tendency, which he has observed since the end of the war, says:

"Students are seeking to understand the values inherent in our religious and humanistic heritage so that they may accept them as a guide to action. Knowledge in the fields of science and social science, standing alone, may be turned to purposes which are disastrous to our way of life."

This shift of emphasis from material values to those which are less tangible is one of many signs which indicate the attitude of today's young people. Their thoughtful, questioning spirit may lead them to successful solution of world problems bequeathed to them by past generations.

The way some people chatter and rattle it's a wonder the telephone doesn't get tired of it all. Naturally these are other people, not ourselves.

Census enumerators, it is assumed, will have no difficulty determining who are people. But sometimes people wonder.

Hidden taxes are always found by the tax collector.

Little Water Does Big Job On Fire; Dog Dies In Blaze

The Corsicana fire department put out a house fire with 340 gallons of water Thursday night and prevented the residence from burning to the ground. A dog, the pet of the J. D. Spencer family, was fatally burned in the blaze.

The fire at the Spencer home, located about two miles north of the city on Highway 75, was reported at 10 p. m. When the department arrived the bathroom, a screened-in porch and the kitchen were in flames.

Asst. Fire Chief Billy Draper said the porch and bathroom were badly damaged, the kitchen not so severely damaged, and a bedroom damaged by water.

The burned dog was found in the bathroom. Cause of the fire and the amount of damage have not been determined, Draper said.

Kerens Methodists Have Mission Study

KERENS, Jan. 28—(Spl)—An artistic arrangement of Dutch iris and yellow jasmine on the dining table and bowls of japonica and gladioli placed at vantage points in the living room provided a colorful setting when the members of the WSCS of the Methodist church presented a mission program Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. G. Sanders.

Mrs. Tenneyson Whorton was leader of the pledge service program which featured a playlet, "The Other Wise Man," with Mrs. A. B. Keen, Russell Baxter, J. K. Hendley and Andrew Talley taking parts.

A linen shower for Mrs. Carroll Thompson, who, with her husband, has just moved into the new Methodist parsonage, was given. Thirty guests were present to enjoy the mission program and the social hour which followed.

tribution agency was praised by M. J. Horton, business manager of Dallas schools, which are the largest recipients in the area.

"You exceeded our expectations," he informed Watson and Rogers. So far the potato is the only commodity placed in the 416 foods category. However, John J. Slaughter of Dallas, who is with the Agriculture Department, supervising food distribution to schools, said it was possible that more commodities would, in the future, be shipped only if the purchasers paid the freight from the point of storage.

These may include: Natural cheese. Dried eggs. Dried beans. "Any commodity now in storage that is in danger of deterioration will be put in 416," Slaughter said.

He emphasized that commodities will continue to be shipped, that recent news stories reporting a halt to the program were wrong. Section 32 and section 6 commodities will continue to be shipped freight-free, he said.

The group was urged to take great care in handling of the foods. And Richard warned that increasing the price of a meal even by five cents would cause many children not to participate in program. He added that reduction in the price, however, would increase considerably the participation.

dug pistol slabs out of the bandit car that had been fired from Theodore's pistol here. CV. 44 state-m order dyT shrdlt Defense witnesses included Dick Waites, Bonham, former Fannin county sheriff and county commissioner, who said he had known the boy all his life—was a close friend of Waites' son—that he was the grandson of a former sheriff, the son of the fire chief, and bore a good reputation.

M. D. Anderson, sheriff of Fannin county, also said the youth bore a good reputation until the episode mentioned, as did E. T. Eubank, First National Bank, Bonham; Ray Doyle, Honey Grove, a former employer of the defendant;

Judge Mays said that statistics show that from 75 to 85 per cent of the felonies are committed by persons under 25 years of age.

The Court said little sympathy could be extended when an armed man had shot a victim, kidnapped him, and drove him ahead of the car to a farmhouse as cattle when released. He said the two men involved tried to kill a peace officer here. Judge Mays said armed robbers would kill if opposed by victims.

The defendant accepted the verdict, although his counsel pleaded for not in excess of 10 years, and Judge Mays pronounced sentence according to the indeterminate sentence law—not less than five or more than 12 years.

Mrs. J. E. Melton Funeral Services Held On Sunday

Funeral services for Mrs. J. E. Melton, 95, who died in Amarillo Thursday night, were held Sunday afternoon from the Methodist church at Dresden with burial in the Dresden cemetery. Rites were conducted by Rev. Roy Johnson and Rev. O. F. McCallum.

Born Oct. 7, 1854, in Freestone country, Mrs. Melton moved to Dresden in 1873 and resided there until she moved to Amarillo a few years ago.

Surviving are three sons, J. G. and B. E. Melton, both of Dresden, and John C. Melton, Amarillo; a daughter, Mrs. Pearl Mobley, Amarillo; and a number of grandchildren, great-grandchildren and other relatives.

Funeral services were Sam Melton, Grover S. Melton, Ruben Melton, Bill Mobley, Hershal Mobley, Ira McMillan, Roy McMillan, Nig Melton, Dean Melton, J. D. Melton, J. K. Melton, Douglas Melton, Jerry McMillan and Woodrow McMillan.

Corley Funeral Home directed.

Irene Jones, friend of the family, Mrs. Hazel Luttrell, mother of the defendant, said she and the boy's father separated 20 years ago when the child was two and a year later married her present husband, with whom she has reared the son. She said her son never had been in trouble, she could ascribe no reason or blame anyone for his actions, that he saved his money when working, quit school to enter the armed forces. The mother said she felt the son would be straight if given another chance. She was of the opinion he was working in Amarillo at the time of the trouble.

The defendant testified readily about the other robberies in which he was involved—and said he was guilty and was going to enter such pleas when arraigned. He said he was not blaming anyone for causing him to get into trouble, and that the robbery "was not as glamorous" as he had thought it would be. He said he became sorry when he realized how it was hurting his people.

Judge Mays said that statistics show that from 75 to 85 per cent of the felonies are committed by persons under 25 years of age.

PLANE CRASH

As the long Arctic night called a temporary halt to the gigantic aerial search, light officials anxiously awaited word from a ground party sent to investigate a lone clue to the plane's whereabouts.

It came from a forest ranger in an almost inaccessible spot approximately 40 miles to the southwest. The ranger said he saw a large plane overhead late Thursday, then heard an earth-shaking thud, an explosion and saw billowing clouds of smoke.

Air Commodore Martin Costell of the Royal Canadian Air Force, search coordinator here, described the report as the "most highly probable" yet received. Parachute crews stayed ready for an immediate take-off should ground crew report back it has found the craft.

Nearly 50 U. S. and Canadian planes scoured the 1300-mile long search area yesterday from Great Falls, Mont., to Snag. Thirty additional planes were to be thrown into the search today from Great Falls where 28 below-zero weather grounded all but a half dozen planes yesterday.

U. S. airmen, flying out of the Montana base, are concentrating on the 800-mile long stretch to Fort Nelson, B. C. Canadian planes cover the remaining 500 mile distance to Snag.

Air force officers estimated that "Operation Mike" already involves more than 5,000 men at Great Falls and another 3,000 men in Canadian and Yukon territory bases.

HOUSTON, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Two of the 44 persons aboard a missing 54 air force plane are former Houston residents. The co-pilot, Lt. Kyle E. McMichael, was a star basketball player and captain of the 1940 John Reagan High school team.

T-Sgt. Jack Faris, a passenger en route home to be discharged, was with the Milby High school swimming team and also fought professionally as "Little Firpo." The plane is missing between Alaska and Montana.

McMichael also starred in sports at Leon Morris Junior College at Jacksonville. His family moved to San Antonio in 1944.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Names of the 38 passengers aboard the U. S. military plane Transport Service (MATS) C-54 that vanished in the Yukon wilderness Jan. 26 on a flight from Anchorage, Alaska, to Great Falls, Mont., have been released by the air force.

The passengers included the following from Texas: T-Sgt. Jack P. Faris, Houston. Sgt. Noel B. Jones, Harlingen. Cpl. Abbie P. Baughman, Route 1, Tioga. Pfc. William W. Cranor, Dallas.

Changing Years

The process of continuous change is not so apparent as we go about our tasks and pleasures from day to day. It is only when we stop to compare this year with a distant one that we are fully aware of great differences.

This is true of ourselves, also. And we should make certain our bodily changes are normal and healthy, unhampered by disease. A yearly physical examination is the best health protection.

Medicines change, too. They become less potent when permitted to stand a long time. It is important that you get prescriptions filled by a pharmacist who always uses fresh stocks of drugs.

Crowds Turn Out To Bid Farewell To First Baptist Pastor, Dr. Cartledge

Huge crowds attended the farewell services conducted Sunday by Dr. Jared L. Cartledge at the First Baptist church.

Instead of a sermon, the Sunday evening service was used principally by the minister in giving his impressions and predictions of what the congregation will do under new leadership.

"The next pastor gets a church without a problem—there are no factions—no divisions—a spiritual power..."

Dr. Cartledge and his family left Monday for Waco where he becomes the leader and pastor of the Seventh and James Baptist church, located adjacent to the campus of Baylor University, his alma mater. Dr. Cartledge is one of the trustees of Baylor.

The former pastor said that some times a minister takes his final sermon to tell the church what is wrong with it.

He then said he did not have any fault to find or criticism for this congregation.

"This church is like the church at Jerusalem before Pentecost—ready to go forward under the leadership of God..."

The church honored the Cartledges Sunday afternoon at a going away party in the new educational building—attended by hundreds of friends from all denominations.

"We are gratified for the occasion of this afternoon and for the gift of fine silverware—we hope you will have a pastor soon. We know you will take the new pastor to your heart and follow him under the leadership of the Holy Spirit," Dr. Cartledge added.

Hundreds stood over the main auditorium and in the balconies Sunday morning when the minister requested those to stand who had united with the congregation since he became pastor more than seven years ago.

"The future of this church is as bright as the promises of God," Dr. Cartledge declared Sunday night.

Mrs. C. A. Hanna, choir director and soloist, brought "An Evening Prayer" as the evening feature. Dr. Cartledge stated this song had been brought as a solo at his last service in Eastland, his last service at Nacogdoches before coming to Corsicana and Sunday night—without his previous knowledge—termining it the workings of the Holy Spirit.

The minister said the subject of his first sermon in Corsicana late 1942 was: "Who Then Is Willing to Consecrate This Day Unto the Lord?"

the basis of any return-to-work movement whether to invoke the emergency powers of the Taft-Hartly act, or take other action.

Mr. Truman has repeatedly said in recent weeks that a national emergency had not arrived, although a number of people in and out of congress disagreed with him. The T-H law's emergency provisions include the use of an 80-day injunction to keep the mines going.

The White House official discussing possible presidential moves said the scheduled resumption of contract talks here Wednesday between Lewis and notehorn and western operators would not be enough in itself at this stage.

Milers Go Swish! But Who Won It?

NEW YORK, Jan. 30. (AP)—Who won the Wannamaker mile in the Millrose games Saturday night—Don Gehrman or Fred Wilt?

By a three-two margin, the judges at the finish line decided on the bespectacled Gehrman after some 15 minutes of wrangling. It was that close.

But today, the two officials who picked G-man Wilt as the winner spoke of postponing the decision. All that the five officials can agree on is the time: 4:09.3 for each runner, it was the fastest eight-furlong of his career.

Ass. Bushnell, chief finish judge of the mile race, said the deciding vote in favor of Gehrman won.

Bushnell said, "I know I hit the tape first, across by shoulder."

Tribute Is Paid To Will Rogers

FORT WORTH, Jan. 30. (AP)—Some folks from Will Rogers' home state joined with some of his Texas friends yesterday to pay tribute to the man Amos Carter called "America's Greatest Citizen."

The Fort Worth publisher said "Many people called him a comedian, and that always sort of irritated me. He was really a great philosopher, a great humanitarian and a great citizen."

The University of Oklahoma band stood at attention while Hardy Murphy of Ardmore, Okla., placed a wreath at the foot of a statue of Rogers in front of the Will Rogers Coliseum and Auditorium here.

Dr. George Cross, president of the University of Oklahoma, said in a prayer, "May the memories of his joyous spirit mellow our hearts."

The tribute was paid during "Oklahoma" day at the Southwestern Exposition and Stock Show.

Bergen gave this insight into the tense problem of getting ha-ha material for a half-hour program: "I work with three writers. First we agree on a comedy situation. Then we write as many jokes around it as we can. Usually we get between 700 and 800."

"We trim these down to 300, then we go on pruning until we end up with the 90 or 95 jokes we actually will use on the program."

Originally, he wrote all his own material. But in time he—like Jack Benny, Bob Hope, Milton Berle and other popular comedians—had to holler for help.

Unlike some laugh merchants, Bergen has a vast aid vocal respect for his writers.

"A guy who can write comedy has a real future today," he said. "And there is no unemployment problem. There are no $2,000 a week comedy writers sitting around waiting for a call. They are all working."

He means those who can keep steadily chuckling fresh jokes week after week and month after month and year after year.

"It's the writer who makes a program classy or trashy," he said. "He sparks it. It all begins with him. The comedian's art lies in editing the material."

Clarkson Named Architect Of New College Program

W. G. Clarkson, former Corsican who designed the county's proposed $1,000,000 memorial hospital, has been employed as architect for the new Navarro Junior College.

The selection was made Friday by the College's Board of Trustees, Ray Waller, NJC president, announced.

The Fort Worth architect will get into the job on Monday, after plans right away Waller said. When the plans are ready, the contracts will be let.

"We expect construction to get under way about June 1," Waller reported.

The new junior college, financed by a $340,000 bond issue, will be located on a 47-acre site just west of the city on Highway 31.

Several architects were interviewed before Clarkson was employed Waller said.

The fee voted for Clarkson was undisclosed.

Census Expected To Show Females Gaining On Males

The 17th decennial census of the United States, to be taken in April, 1950, is likely to confirm projections, which show that the excess in numbers of males in the nation's population has been wiped out during the past decade.

In 1940, the last census showed a sex ratio of 100.7 males per 100 females. Population studies estimated that in 1949 the ratio was 99.0 males per 100 females. Numerically, the sexes appear to have reached a balance about the middle of the decade. World War II casualties were in part responsible for the decline, but the decrease in the predominantly male immigration of earlier decades and the higher civilian death rate of males than of females were the leading factors.

A report issued by the census bureau in 1949 announced estimates based on 1940 census figures brought up to date from official records of births, deaths and net immigration. This report stated that between April, 1940, and July, 1949, there was a shift in the relative numbers of males and females in the United States from an enumerated excess of 454,000 males to an estimated deficit of 730,000 males in 1949.

Not all age groups had sex ratios lower than 100 in 1949, however. There were approximately 104 males for every 100 females in the population under 20 years of age.

This ratio reflects the normally large excess in numbers of boys among births. In contrast, the sex ratio in the age group 45 years and older was estimated at 96.4 in 1949 as against 102.6 in 1940.

The trend towards numerical dominance of women in the 45-and-over group is a result of the increasingly larger excess of male death rates over female death rates, and the sharp decline in the volume of the heavily male immigration with the consequent rapid attrition in the number of foreign-born persons.

Fraley Couple Again To Face Trial In Death

The murder without malice cases of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Fraley will be reset for trial the week of Feb. 13, Charles T. Banister, county attorney, announced Friday afternoon. They were indicted in connection with the fatal shooting of W. G. Hollifield on Aug. 8 in South Blooming Grove following a dispute over a boundary line between their adjoining homes.

Fraley was tried this week and a jury was unable to agree on a verdict after 24 hours' deliberation and was discharged Friday afternoon by A. P. Mays, judge of the Thirteenth Judicial district court.

Lime Aid, So To Speak, For Skunks

Here's a suggestion to rid premises of skunks! Mrs. Claude Russell of Merkel, Texas, writes the post office here a way to make the odorous kitties leave after reading of the bothersome pests in Corsicana.

Lime sprinkled on the runways used by the polecats and where they make their bed under houses or other places is said to be effective in causing them to seek other neighborhoods.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—(AP)—A broad demand for stocks headed by radio-television issues pushed the market higher today by fractions to around 2 points.

Volume of trading was around 1,600,000 shares.

A succession of dividend announcements kept the day bright for traders. Standard Oil (NJ) declared a $1 dividend and directors announced the corporation would meet quarterly instead of semi-annually for dividend consideration. The stock gained substantially on the news.

Certainly, the market also jumped into the buying spotlight after directors announced the decision to retire preferred stock leaving only the common outstanding.

Radio-television shares were in demand right after the opening of the market and many chalked up new highs for 1949-50. The movement was a continuation of the upsurge in Saturday's short session for that group which has been rising steadily for several weeks as a result of highly favorable television set sales.

Higher were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, American Telephone, Santa Fe, Nickel Plate, Atlantic Coast Line, Anaconda Copper, American Smelting, Woolworth, Douglas Aircraft, Emerson Radio, Philco, Zenith, Motorola, Philip Morris, Union Carbide, U. S. Gypsum, Celotex, and Standard Oil of California.

American can lost as much as 3 points at one time. A handful of other leaders were down by small fractions.

Chinese Claim 50 Red Junks Suffer In Warplane Raid

TAIPEI, Formosa, Jan. 30.—(AP) Chinese Nationalist airforce headquarters today said new onslaughts by warplanes Sunday sank 50 Red junks preparing for the invasion of Hainan Island, off the South China coast.

Headquarters said bombers demolished many gun emplacements in raids on Luchow Peninsula, which juts to within ten miles of Hainan.

News reports said several more heavy bombers had been transferred to Hainan from Formosa.

Official sources here said the Reds had 5,000 motor powered junks and other small craft ready for the Hainan invasion.

Gen. Hsia Tzu-Tai, director of the Taipei office of the Hainan defense command, said the vessels would try to move between 100,000 and 200,000 Communist troops across the narrow Hainan Strait for the assault on the big island.

Hsia said the Reds would never be able to conquer Hainan without Russian help, presumably in the form of technical advisors, planes and submarines.

Hsia reported the Hainan command had 100,000 regulars and 90,000 militiamen.

(Reports of the mounting Red invasion were at variance with the Jan. 18 statement of Hainan commander, Gen. Hsueh Yang, who said the Nationalist planes and naval raids had destroyed more than 2,000 Communist invasion craft and made an invasion impossible.)

Elsewhere Nationalist planes roamed Chinese Communist skies blasting at Red concentrations on the mainland.

Poll Taxes Paid Fast For County
Issuance of poll tax receipts was in full swing at the office of Arnold A. Armstrong, assessor and collector of taxes, Monday morning as the Tuesday deadline approached.

The office will remain open until midnight Tuesday to accommodate late payers, Armstrong stated.

An estimate of the number of poll tax receipts issued is unavailable since banks in most of the county towns are also issuing the receipts and had not made a report to the office here.

Since 1950 is election year, a huge demand is anticipated the final day.

Dallas Cagers In Prancing Form As Disaster Strikes

Bristow Tops Scoring With 23 Points For Contest

By PAUL MOORE

Sun Sports Editor
Jesuit High Ranger loopers demonstrated how good a ball club can be Friday night and defeated a scrapping but outclassed band of Tigers at the Junior High gym court, 64-46.

And it might be added, the game was not as close as the score indicated, either, for the Dallasites forced ahead after Corsicana had made a free shot to lead, 27-4 at the first quarter.

Then the second team took the field to play the Bengals on even terms to make the count, 45-18, at the half. The score was 50-24 at the end of the third period.

Charles Roy Bristow of Corsicana turned in the high scoring honors for the evening when he accounted for 23 points, but he was in the game all of the time. He made his 23 out of the first 12 registered by Corsicana.

Late in the game, Big Red Chapman made 11 of his 12 points as the visitors fought to protect their commanding lead and watch the clock tick off the seconds and the time.

Faber was a sensation for the Jesuits with five fielders and eight free flips to lead his club with 18 points—but it must be taken into consideration that he was on the bench a considerable portion of the evening, and was a sensational shot-maker either close or out in the field.

The passing and speed flashed by the Rangers was heady to behold and the Bengals were unable to match their prowess early in the melee before substitutes began dribbling into the contest.

Joseph, one of the Rangers' guards, played a fine game and was an adept and speedy ball-handler.

Corsicana drew 25 personal fouls during the melee and the visitors accounted for 22 free points—That's shooting in any league although some fouls allowed two flips. Corsicana made 14 free conversions in 23 fouls during the evening.

Several hundred cage enthusiasts were present for this non-conference tussle.

The Corsicana B team, however, turned in a 46-28 trouncing in the curtain-raiser at Richland.

J. Cravens set the scoring pattern with 21 points for the B Tigers.

Corsicana Tiger Schedule Shows Opener Against North Side Club

The Corsicana Tigers, defending champions of District 13-AA, open their 1950 football season on Sept. 15 on Tiger Field against the North Side eleven of Fort Worth. The ten-game schedule was announced Friday by Boyd Payne, head football coach. Announcement of the schedule had been held up for several days pending the arrangements for the Ennis game, which replaces the Cleburne game on Thanksgiving Day.

Three new teams are on the Corsicana agenda. They are North Side, Crozier Tech of Dallas and Grand Prairie. The Cowtown team is always one of the toughest in its circuit, and Crozier Tech, which ranked close behind Champion Sunset in 1949, has the most favorable material returning of any team in the Dallas conference, according to sports writers.

Grand Prairie, recently moving into AA football, gave Highland Park its best and hardest game last season in that district.

The other members of the Tiger schedule are old rivals, the only change being that Cleburne has been moved from this district after a tenure of many years.

Traditional dates have taken a beating in the new schedule, however. Corsicana opens its district season on Oct. 27 by playing Waco.

LeTourneau Loses 49-37; John Kenner Tips His Hat To Court, Tops Cagers

The Navarro Bulldogs after two consecutive losses, got back on the conference win trail when they downed the LeTourneau Tech quintet on the Junior High court here Saturday night, 49-37.

After a lethargic first half in which the visitors dominated the game, with their tactics showing possession of the ball, the Navarro crew rebounded with a vengeance to move ahead and stay ahead until the end of the game.

John Kenner, one of the key men in the Navarro lineup, bowed out of competition in Saturday night's game in fitting fashion. He was high point man with 17 tallies, and his work, particularly in the second half, was superb. His mates chipped in with some fine work of their own, and the Bulldogs looked like the team that won nine straight games before it lost one.

Navarro scored first, and the lead changed hands five times before LeTourneau pulled out in front with a 17-11 lead at 7 minutes. Deadly shooting of foul shots paid off for them, and they widened the gap to 24-16 at half-time with a slow-moving, sure-shot style of play.

Navarro looked like a different team in the second half. It held LeTourneau scoreless for about 4 minutes at the opening, while they pulled up to tie at 24-24, and move ahead on Don Granger's tip-in. Navarro never relinquished the lead after that, and a fast-moving offense kept the visitors off balance. Bill Reed, Ted Darland, Gerry Kenner and Oscar Crisman turned in fine floor games to add impetus to the drive.

The visitors were as ineffective with their foul shots in the second half as they had been successful in the first period.

Crucial Week In Store For Tigers In Cage Contests

The Corsicana Tigers, now in second place in the District 13-AA basketball race, now face their most crucial week of action in the 1950 cage race.

They have two games scheduled this week, one against Cleburne in Cleburne, Tuesday, and one against Waxahachie in Corsicana Friday.

And to win the district title, the Bengals will just about have to win both games.

The district race, right now is just about in the biggest jumble it has ever been in, and it is still anybody's guess as to who the winner will be. At the present moment, well into the second half of the schedule, Waxahachie and Temple are tied for the lead with 5 wins and two losses. Corsicana is in clear third with 4 wins and 2 losses.

Ennis pulled the upset of the week last Friday and downed Cleburne, 44-38, to throw Cleburne down the ladder to a tie with Waco.

In the first meeting of the year with Cleburne here, Corsicana nipped the Jackets, 31-30. Tomorrow night's game in Cleburne is expected to be just as close.
